Former Hong Kong Boy Blinded By Acid

EX-EMPLOYEE SUSPECTED

Shanghai, December 31.
The Police are searching throughout the city for a man, believed to be a Chinese, who threw acid in the face of a Briton, Mr. John F. Knox, employed by the Shanghai Gas Company. Mr. Knox was completely blinded and he is now in hospital where it is not known whether he will recover his sight. It is thought that his assailant was a workman who was dismissed by the Gas Company.

Mr. Knox was riding in a rickshaw in Hongkew yesterday evening when the man grabbed the shafts and threw the acid at him. The rickshaw pulled took Mr. Knox to the Police station when he was rushed to the hospital.

CHANG FACES TRIAL

Ten Year Term Of Imprisonment

PARDON TO BE GRANTED

Nanking, Dec. 31.
The court martial sentenced Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang to ten years' imprisonment, but in view of his voluntary surrender and other mitigating circumstances he will be officially pardoned to-morrow.

Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang has accepted entire blame in the Sian-fu coup. He explained that he was motivated by a desire to achieve freedom of equality for the country.

The Young Marshal is now under nominal detention at Dr. Kung's residence.

HONG KONG WELCOMES NEW YEAR

Merriment Until Early Hours

To the accompaniment of fire crackers, hooters, drums, and every mechanical and vocal means of making noise, coupled with the time-honoured singing of Auld Lang Syne, Colony residents made merry last night, forgot the troubles of 1936 and greeted the year 1937 with unstinted fervour and gaiety.

Hardly a person remained home last night. Everybody was out at some place or another where they eagerly waited for the clock to chime twelve to ring themselves body and soul into the merriment and jollity of the hour.

The truly festive garb that adorned the Colony and the mainland last week was revived with vim and vigour and there was not a stone left unturned to make the welcome to the new year a very hearty one.

The seemingly unceasing din created as Father Time struck the first sixty seconds of 1937 was continued into the early hours of this morning.

MILLION DOLLAR DONATION

Construction Of Orphanage In Kunming

Philanthropist With Long Record Of Public Welfare Work

Bettering his record of philanthropic service, Mr. Aw Boon Haw, noted druggist and philanthropist, has contributed a sum of $1,000,000 for the construction of an orphanage in Kunming to be named the Ping Wei Orphanage.

In support of his generous act the Yunnan Provincial Government has marked out a piece of land in the city as the site of the orphanage. A design of the new charity organ is being drawn up by a Hong Kong architect, and construction work will be started as soon as the design is completed and approved.

Amassing an immense fortune by his drug trade, Mr. Aw has set aside large sums for public welfare work, his motto being "riches derived from society should be used for the benefit of society."

Among the institutions that have been benefited by his donations are the Chinese Girls' Public School in Hongkong ($100,000), the Overseas Chinese Middle School in Singapore ($50,000), the Hong Kong, Canton, and Hainan Island.

He has also repeatedly contributed funds for the revolutionary cause, including $3,000 to the late Dr. Sung Yat-sen's war chest for the suppression of Chen Chung-ming's rebellion in 1924, $100,000 in aid of the Northern Punitive Expedition launched by General Chiang Kai-shek, $100,000 for relief of the victims during the "Red" Uprising at Canton in 1927 and $15,000 for relief of the victims in the Tainan Incident in 1928.

NAVAL PARADE

Inspiring Spectacle

ADMIRAL GRATIFIED

"You Compare Favourably"

All roads yesterday morning led to the Happy Valley Grounds, where, witnessed by hundreds of interested spectators, the Commander-in-Chief of the China Station, His Excellency, Vice-Admiral Sir Charles J. C. Little, K.C.B., carried out his annual inspection of Naval and Royal Marine landing parties, which was followed by the march past of several companies.

The Guests' enclosures, flanking both sides of the saluting base, were filled with the uniformed figures of officers of both the Naval and Military forces, among whom also were Naval officers from American and French vessels in port. It was literally "Navy's Day" and the whole scene was very impressive.

At 9.55 a.m. the General Officer Commanding, His Excellency, Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., accompanied by Lieut. J. P. Howarth, A.D.C., arrived in a motor car, and was received by Captain Smith and other Naval officers. A General Salute was accorded him.

Promptly at 10 o'clock a salute was posted at the entrance of the saluting base.

WANG CHENG WEI'S RETURN

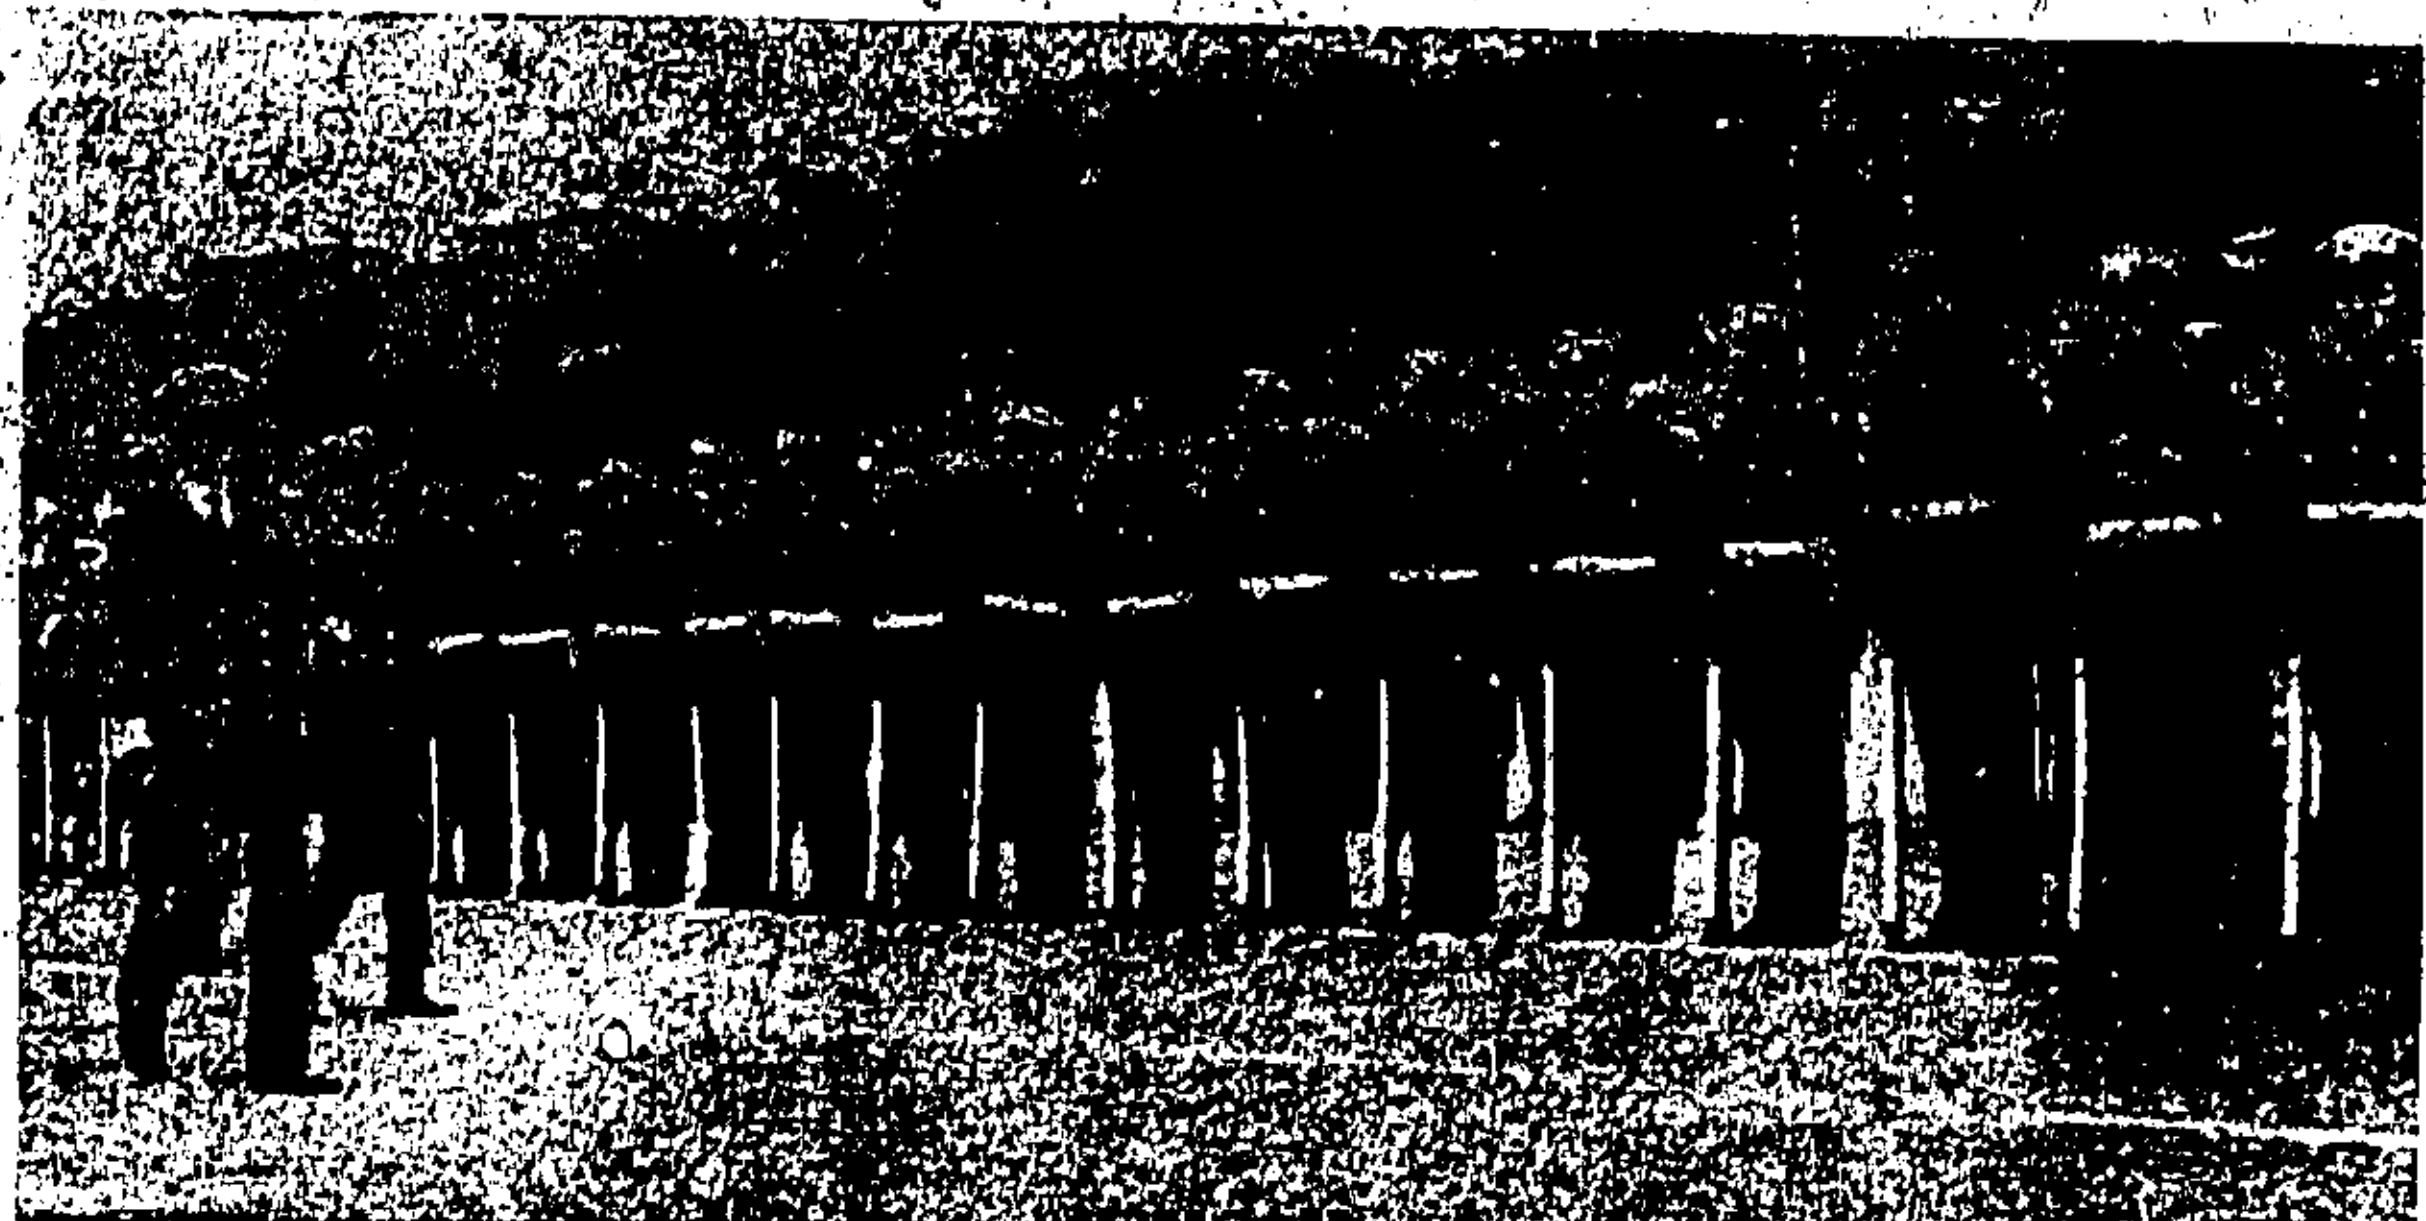

Mr. Chu Man-yi, Secretary of the Administrative Yuan, is expected to arrive here in Hong Kong from Shanghai by the J.C.M. steamer "Tianhai" on the January 6.

It is stated that Mr. Chu Man-yi is coming to Hong Kong to welcome Mr. Wang Cheng-wei, who is on his way back to China from Europe, where he has been undergoing medical treatment.

Mr. Wang Cheng-wei, who is a member of the National Government, has been in Europe for some time, and his return is expected to be a significant event.

GOLF RULE CHANGE

Fourteen Clubs Only Per Player

New York, Dec. 31.
The United States Golf Association announces that from January 1, 1938, the number of clubs allowed each player in a match will be limited to fourteen.

The change has been effected by means of an amendment to the preamble of the rules of golf, making it read "the game of golf consists of a ball being played with clubs (not exceeding fourteen in number)."

This decision was taken after conversations between representatives of the Rules Committee of the Royal and Ancient Club, which it is understood will make a similar recommendation at the general meeting of the Club next May.

SEQUEL TO CUSTOMS PASS HOLD-UP

Miscranted Charged

A sequel to the daring armed robbery which took place at the Customs Pass, near the Kai Tak Aerodrome, on September 27, when Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Peacock, of 45c Peking Road, Kowloon, were held up while out walking, was heard at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon. Chau Wah, 45, earth cooler, appeared before Mr. E. Himsworth, charged with this crime and was ordered to stand trial at the next Criminal Sessions.

Assistant Attorney E. H. Williams told the Court that Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Peacock and their two sons were out walking in the Kowloon Hills on the day in question. There was nobody in sight at Customs Pass when they got to it but Mrs. Peacock heard the sound of foot-steps behind them and looked round to see who Chinese walking towards them. She stood aside to let them pass when one of them produced a pistol and pointed it at her husband.

Mr. Peacock grabbed at the pistol and during the scuffle that ensued it went off, the bullet hitting him in the left thigh. The other man then brandished a knife and forced her to take off her rings and give them to him. Mrs. Peacock then shouted for help and the first robber fired his gun again.

The robbers then made off and Mr. Peacock and his family then went on to the Royal Air Force depot where his wound was treated. The robbery was immediately reported to the Police and Mr. Peacock was taken to the hospital.

HONG KONG IN 1936

Happenings Chronicled

(BY E. MacN)

The following is a collection of important Colony events during 1936, set out, as far as possible, in chronological order. The reader is thus provided with a rapid survey of the year.

TIGERS

Much concern was felt for the safety of villagers and hikers in the early part of the year when on January 3 it was reported that two tigers had been seen in the New Territories. The subsequent appearance of either one of these tigers became so frequent that on March 24 the Police authorities offered a reward of $50 for the killing or capture of the tiger or leopard. On April 10 the tiger was seen again. The animal has not been seen since and has not been captured.

IMPORTANT AIR LINES

On March 24 the Imperial Airways R.M.A. Dorado arrived from Penang with 16 bags of mail and a passenger thus inaugurating a direct service from London to Hong Kong.

When the seaplane Philippine Clipper made a graceful descent on the waters of Kowloon Bay opposite the Kai Tak Airport at 4 p.m. on October 23, she completed the first stage of the return trip of an epoch-making journey between America and Hong Kong. Mr. Juan Trippe, President of the Pan-American Airways, told press representatives that no plans had been completed for a commercial schedule. The present flight was

TRY COLD WATER THIS IS THE WAY TO WASH A LACE WOOL JUMPER

Water is one of the finest aids to beauty there is, but its value is often overlooked—probably because everyone can get just as much as they like of it! Familiarity with the hundred and one uses of water, for use both inside and out, should breed, not contempt, but admiration for its versatility and usefulness.

Cold water is a valuable internal cleanser. Drink at least eight glasses of it a day between meals, and see at the end of a week how clear your skin is and how bright your eyes.

As an outward cleanser cold water must be used with discretion. Cold baths are all very well for those whom they suit. If you can take a cold bath and almost at once feel a comforting, warm reaction, the bath is doing you good, but if you shiver, turn blue, and feel thoroughly miserable, leave cold baths to the hardy folk, and take yours warm in future.

Always after a hot bath let the cold tap run until the water is tepid. This will close the pores of the skin and prevent you catching cold.

The skin of the face reacts well to a cold rinse, and should be given one every time after cleansing. If you have a greasy skin clean it with warm water and soap, rinse in warm and then cold water. Splash it on till the skin tingles, and you will have helped the pores to close and given the skin the stimulation it needs.

Dry skins, even if they don't like a soap and water wash, can have a cold splash just the same. Coat the skin with almond oil, wipe off dirt and oil with a cleansing tissue or soft towel, and then splash on the cold water. Pat the skin dry, and the little oil that is still clinging to it will serve as a foundation for powder.

Handle lace wool very gently. It should be washed in practically cold water to which the necessary quantity of mixed Persil has been added. A heaped tablespoonful to each gallon is enough, unless the water is very hard, when a little more should be allowed.

If the weather is frosty, draw the water an hour or two before it is required and keep it in the room so that it takes on the room temperature.

The jumper should be carefully measured before wetting and the measurements noted down, so that after the garment has been wetted and washed it can be reshaped during the drying process.

Wash by squeezing the garment gently in the suds—Pay special attention to any parts which are extra soiled, such as neck or cuffs. Do not lift the jumper out of the water until you have finished washing it; then, with both hands under the garment, raise it so that no weight is thrown on the delicate threads. This helps to prevent stretching.

Rinse until the water remains clear. If the colour shows any tendency to run, or if the garment is grey, buff or pale green and likely to gall in drying, add vinegar—in the proportion of a half-cupful to a gallon of water—to the last rinsing water, then squeeze out as much moisture as possible by laying the garment sandwich fashion between two dry towels and patting and pressing—changing towels as they become wet.

Very gently slip into the body part a big soft towel, put white tissue paper in the sleeves, gently reshape the garment to the original measurements and lay flat to dry.

Egg-White Facial

The application of a beauty mask made of the white of an egg has been a favorite of lovely women down through the centuries. Jane Hamilton, RKO Radio starlet, treats herself to this beauty rite once a week.

Swank Sports Hat

Lucille Ball's felt sport hat is made with a flattering square high crown, in a vagabond manner. It is the ideal chapeau to wear with tailored fall tweeds. Miss Ball will be in the forthcoming Lily Pons musical comedy for RKO Radio.

In the new film Miss Ball is to have a featured role as a dancer.

In the Feminine World

Realizing that green is one of her most becoming colors, Heather Angel has added a soft-toned green wool sports dress to her wardrobe. The frock is fastened all the way down the front with large brown wooden buttons. The neckline is such that different scarves can be worn with it. Miss Angel is George O'Brien's leading lady in "Daniel Boone."

Anne Shirley, co-starred with Herbert Marshall in "Make Way for a Lady," finds that crushed candy, chopped nuts, dried fruits or crumbs made from macaroons are excellent additions to home made ice creams, as they give variety and flavor.

Instead of the conventional centerpiece of flowers, Ginger Rogers uses several little bright-colored shallow bowls of flowers placed in various artistic positions on the table.

Anne Southern, playing opposite Gene Raymond in "Smartest Girl in Town," gives a tip on the selection of a winter coat. If you can afford one with a lovely fur collar, be sure that the coat itself is cut on very plain lines, in order that the fur can hold the center of attention. If your coat is to be all cloth, then purchase one which has more intricacy of line and cut.

A few drops of peroxide in the rinsing water will keep white silk blouses, collars and cuffs from turning yellow, declares Betty Furness, featured in "Swing Time," the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers co-starring musical.

Katharine Hepburn's Hints

For Thanksgiving Dinner

Although the locale of "A Woman Rebels," her latest, is England, Katharine Hepburn is a born Yankee and when Thanksgiving rolls around her thoughts turn to a real New England holiday dinner, including pumpkin pie and cranberry sauce with the inevitable turkey. She believes in preparing the accessory delicacies a day in advance, as they take a bit of time and trouble and this simplifies matters if the party is to be large.

Here is her recipe for both the pumpkin pie and cranberry conserves—and she thinks they are exceptionally good:

Pumpkin Pie

2 cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup sugar (scent)
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon cloves
Mix sugar, spices, flour and salt with pumpkin. Separate the eggs and beat yolks into the mixture. Fold in well-beaten whites. Fill the pie crust. Bake slowly for about one hour.

Cranberry Conserves

This is a little more elaborate than ordinary cranberry sauce, but it can be prepared and put in glasses, as any other form of fruit preserves, some time ahead of using. This form of conserve is really enough better to be worth the trouble.

1 quart cranberries
2 1/2 cups sugar
Juice and pulp of 2 oranges
1 grated orange peel
1 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Wash and chop cranberries. Rinse in colander to remove seeds. Add one cup cold water, the orange-pulp, juice and peel—and the raisins. Cook for fifteen minutes. Add the sugar and oil for two minutes. Add chopped nuts. Pour into moulds or glasses. Chill. Serve in slices.

Dinner Dress

Helen Broderick's turquoise blue dinner dress is banded in a hand-beaded border of silver sequins. The gown has a removable bolero jacket, and features a graceful draped overskirt. With it comes a grey fox-collared coat of velvet in a matching shade of blue. The comedienne is in "Smartest Girl in Town," and will be seen in the new Joe Penner picture, "Convention in Cuba," and later will be teamed with Victor Moore in "We, the Jury."

Black for Evening

Picturesque is an apt description for the evening wrap of imported black taffeta recently chosen by Ann Southern, lovely picture star. Cording at the shoulders creates the bulky puffed effect so widely featured in this season's silhouettes. The taffeta crumples becomingly into a shawl-like collar which continues down to the high waistline, where a bunch of white violets fasten the wrap.

LONDON FASHIONS

Evening Dresses

Evening frocks which will serve a double purpose are ideal for the coming party season. Practically every evening dress has its accompanying bolero or coat in matching or contrasting fabric. Stiff tulle and failles in deep rich colours make full skirted dresses with simple tight fitting bodices and little collars with wide shoulders and short fluted basques. Heavy metal fabrics make formal gowns, slim in the front with sweeping fullness at the back. The jackets worn with these are buttoned from neck to waistline and cut away into a short full peplum to give a bustle effect. Slim dresses in heavy dull crepes, slipper satins and velvets are of floor length and slit at the sides to give freedom of movement. They are worn with little fitted jackets with short or long sleeves, pleated at the shoulders to give exaggerated width, and fastened high at the throat or cut into a square décolletage in the front. These jackets may be of matching material, of lacquered satin with bright coloured designs, stiff metal brocades, or even of damask and furnishing tapestries in Persian colourings.

Very new are formal evening dresses in heavy dull black crepe with low cut necks emphasized by gold or sequin embroidery studded with coloured stones. The small fitted jackets of the same material have long tight fitting sleeves and are trimmed down the front with bands of the same embroidery. A severe black evening dress with narrow shoulder straps of multi-coloured sequins is worn with a coat which has a bodice of massed sequins and plain black sleeves.

Closely embroidered sequins make attractive short boleros with short or long sleeves, the colour of the sequins taking up the shade of the crepe dress, as when raspberry is shown with soft pink or silver with white. For the young there are skirted dresses of full length, cut high at the neck with tailored collar and front and short puff sleeves. These are in coloured nets over tulle, in printed tulle, or in lace lightly embroidered with silver beads. A romantic picture dress for a young girl is made of tiers of striped black tulle with exaggerated puff sleeves, the rounded neck being filled in with frills of pale pink tulle, which appear again in the matching pantalettes. Large flowery such as roses and chrysanthemums trim evening gowns of simple silhouette, massed across a square neckline or thrust through the swathed waist belt. Flowers for the hair have given place to bows of velvet or metal ribbons, small ostrich tips, and gold berries and leaves. Little Juliet caps of silver or gold thread are studded with jewels which match the buttons or clips on the dress. Circular veils of tulle are fixed in the hair with rhinestone clips; their edges of chenille or velvet give them a slight stiffness.

The newest evening wraps are furless and fit closely to the figure, flaring out or gathered to exaggerated fullness just below the normal waistline. They look well in velvet, lacquered metal fabrics, stiff brocades and furniture damask.

A comfortable horse coat for informal dinners is cut on strictly tailored lines with shirt collar, and revers and long tight fitting sleeves with slight shoulder width. It is buttoned from neck to floor length hem with self-covered buttons or zip fasteners and finished with a tailored belt.

Old Styles to Inspire New

These sketches of Katharine Hepburn, in some of the appealing "You-remember-when" costumes from "A Woman Rebels," show that one can look attractive even if the styles are not of the minute. The period is that of fifty and sixty years ago during which the star enacts an emotional romance with Herbert Marshall. The designs of her costumes have also been adapted in sharply modernized form by Walter Plunkett, the studio designer, and will reach the public through the garment trade this winter.

Nine Rules For Make-Up

It is possible to work wonders with your face if you understand the technique of applying make-up. You should, however, be on familiar terms with the correct routine.

Here are the nine rules you should remember. Cut them out and paste them on a cardboard for reference.

1.—It is essential that the skin is freshly cleaned. If the skin is normal wash with complexion soap, lukewarm water and a rubber sponge.

If the skin is dry clean with cleansing milk on a pad of cotton wool. Sponge off thoroughly with cool water.

If the skin is oily rinse with cool water, and apply a skin freshener on a pad of cotton wool.

2.—Apply small dab of powder foundation cream to forehead, cheeks, chin and nose. Blend away from centre of face with the fingertips until the cream seems to disappear. For oily complexions apply foundation lotion. Dab small portion with bottom wool on forehead, cheeks, chin and nose. Blend lightly with fingertips. Wipe off surplus with cleansing tissue.

3.—Apply eye shadow to upper lid only, blending very lightly with fingertips—up towards eyebrow, out towards the corner of the eye.

4.—If cream rouge is used, apply this with the fingertips before powdering. Place three or four little dots over the part of the cheek you wish to rouge, then blend lightly with your fingertips until the edges fade into the natural colour of your cheeks. Be careful to apply exactly the same quantity on each cheek, and in exactly the same position on each cheek.

5.—If compact rouge is used this is applied with a small rouge pad after powdering.

6.—Never rub powder on the face. If you use a velvet or lamb's wool powder puff pat the powder on the face. If you use a swansdown puff, dip this in the powder, shake out slightly and dust over the face.

Start by powdering the chin, then the cheeks, nose, and last the forehead. Take a clean piece of cheese cloth, a soft tissue or a powder brush, and wipe off all surplus powder. Dip cheese cloth in clean water, and wipe powder off eyelashes and eyebrows.

7.—If eyebrow pencil is used, sketch eyebrows in with small, light strokes. If eyebrow pencil is not used the eyebrows should be brushed with a special brush kept for this purpose.

8.—If eyelash cosmetic is used, apply this lightly to upper eyelashes on eyelash brush.

9.—Apply lipstick to upper lip first, then lightly to lower lip. Smooth in evenly with fingertip lip. Wipe off edges with cleansing tissue. Be careful to take all lipstick off your finger.

10.—Apply powder, cream or liquid to neck and throat. When in evening dress apply this to back, arms and hands.

Sees Herself Often

The attractive features of Anita Colby, famous New York art model, look out at her from countless periodicals and newspapers because of her great looks as a model for advertising illustrations. Her picture has appeared as the attraction spot in as many as a dozen national displays, ads at one time. Here she is shown at a Hollywood newsstand checking up her circulation. Miss Colby is to be seen on the motion picture screen as one of the four ladies-in-waiting to Mary Stuart in "Mary of Scotland," which presents Katharine Hepburn and Freddie March as the starring team.

Fashion PRE-VIEW

PARIS FASHIONS

Hats, Furs, And Colours

There is a lull in the creation of new fashions. New materials will be shown early next year.

In the meantime women are wearing hats trimmed with jaunty bows set back on the head. The black felt cap or bonnet which fits the head may have a satin or dré bow in black or it may be of colour, or lined with colour, such as pale rose or almond green. On a black, brown, or any dark cap or bonnet, jewelled clips are worn. A fair illustration of fashion is a golden-haired girl in a long mink coat, worn over a simple brown woollen frock and with a brown felt hat, the crown of which is conical and the brim oval, turned back on the crown with a facing of mink. This hat is worn far back on the head to show the brow and the hair is parted in the middle.

Brown furs are fashionable: mink, beaver, nutria, brown ermine are prominent. A brown ermine coat with brown taffetas lining has quilted taffetas revers and a quilted taffetas belt. The quilting is done in rows not in diamonds. The Schiaparelli fashion of trimming coats with lapels of fox fur and no collar is often seen. At a restaurant luncheon it was twice illustrated, once on a broadcloth coat and again on velvet. The coats are three-quarter length with patch pockets on the hips of the slightly flared basques, trimmed with fox fur to match the lapels. The bare neckline is softened by a folded silk scarf in colour or in black and held in place by a beautiful jewelled pin. The dress under the coat may be of the same material. Fur is dyed specially to trim coloured ensembles. Blue fur goes on brown coats. On wine red cloth navy blue fur is used. Red fox goes on black. Beaver goes on dark green.

The shoulder line of cloth coats is straight and wide, the flared tunic line to long basques is usual. The rather short skirt for afternoon is liked better than that of ankle length, while for informal evening parties it is permissible to wear dresses which scarcely cover the ankles. The open neck line is right for the afternoon. Blouses and dresses alike are cut to a square or a point in front. This has brought back the fashion of necklaces and pendants of coloured jewels. Emeralds, rubies, sapphires, and less expensive stones, such as topaz, amethysts, and garnets, are worn at the throat. A new way of wearing pearls is to twist a double row close to the throat to make a collar.

Colour is certainly one of this season's outstanding fashions. Wine reds, slate blue, cool greens, light and dark, brown in tobacco and chestnut shades, are all worn. Black prevails in Paris, but in the South, in the country anywhere, colours are right. Imitations of the Scotch tartans are extremely popular in France for the country, and for the morning in town. Light and dark, in red, white and black, in blue, green and yellow, in red, grey and black, pleated skirts go with dark jackets and light waistcoats. A cape and a cap to match may be added.

FASHION NOTES

A collection of suede blouses that rival the rainbow in their colouring, will serve to solve the tailored suit problems of Myrna Loy for the coming season.

The blouses, plain and tailored, are fashioned from bright colours of soft, imported suades. They feature high, cow' necklines and button at the back. They may be worn either tucked in, or out of her tailored suit skirts.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star prefers suade creations to other types of blouses because of their adaptability to any occasion.

Everyone is asking for triple clips since they saw the set worn recently by Jeanette MacDonald, appearing in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, MATTIME. Adrian designed the clips, three in a number and graduated in size from very large to quite small. They are jewelled in diamonds and emeralds and are a smart item in completing an ensemble. One clip is worn on the dress, one on the hat and one on the bag.

Virginia Bruce is thrilled over her new evening coat which was fashioned after her own original design.

The three-quarter length creation of mink is completely lined with white ermine, or vice versa, since the coat may be worn with either side out according to the weather, and the occasion.

Virginia designed the garment between scenes of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, BORN TO DANCE.

CORONATION COIFFURE

Ensuring Comfort In Wearing Coronets

"TOP WAVING WITH SIDE AND NECK CURLS"

The decision that peeresses must wear coronets at the Coronation on May 12 has made it necessary that a modern hair-dressing style should be created to ensure that the coronet can be worn with assurance and comfort.

The Fashions Committee of the Hairdressers' General Committee is now designing the official Coronation coiffure. Mr. T. Earnshaw, chairman of the Committee and Worshipful Master of the Incorporated Guild of Hairdressers, Wigmakers and Perfumers, gave me the following description of what it will be like:

"The Coronation coiffure will be a sleek topwaving with side and neck curls. There will be nothing harsh in the style. It will be very soft and very feminine; somewhat shorter than the style of the last few years, but not so short as the severe style of 1929-30.

"The official design will be sent to all secretaries of established trade organisations, and though it may not be copied exactly, it will be the basis of hair-dressing fashion for the Coronation throughout the country.

NO "SWITCH" NECESSARY
"The design will enable a coronet to be worn with safety and without difficulty. It will not be necessary for a peeress to attach to her hair a 'hunting switch' or any other type of plait. The coronet has a soft velvet padding; it has no additional 'gadgets' or springs. It is designed to sit firmly on the head, even if there is not much hair, just as a close-fitting hat fits without pins."

Mr. Earnshaw added that a tiara might be worn without difficulty with the new hair design. The wearing of it is a matter of personal taste.

A member of the firm of Garrard and Co. Ltd., the Crown Jewellers, said that their workmen—skilled craftsmen who had been in the firm a lifetime—were busy making coronets for peeresses, the majority of whom did not possess them.

"The standard size of a peeress's coronet is 5 1/2 in diameter," he said, "and it takes about three weeks to make. The cost is from £18 to £25. There is also a demand for tiaras, for which £3,000 is not an exorbitant figure."

Mid-Season Dress Motions

Designs In Gold Metal And Leather

Dress ideas that will carry us on till the new fashions appear in the spring will not come amiss. Lucien Lelong has launched some splendid ones to fill this gap. These not only suggest something entirely new, but include those that can be applied to older frocks at this time of year. They are stimulating and make us wonder what he has up his sleeve for 1937.

Ginger-coloured kid scrolls a design down the centre-front and base of a brown jacket. This is for morning sports wear with a brown skirt and jumper-blouse of ginger-coloured wool. A brown and beige speckled tweed jacket buttons up to neck-line on rust-brown leather buttons to match a belt and bow tie. This looks sporting but dainty as it slants beneath the chin of a rust-brown blouse.

TARTAN TOUCHES

As a variation to kid of monotone persuasion, tartan-checked linnage is used for a scarf and the tops of patch-pockets on a dark peacock-blue, half-length coat which appears in perfect line over a slender frock of identical colour. This carries a gold button chemise, corsage fastening and belt to conform.

Gold metal is a good idea for afternoon frocks with a semi-sports air which is considered to be so smart. It enhances not only black, but purple, rust, wine reds—in fact, practically every colour that has been an autumnal success. The buttercup yellows are an exception which look best under brown or black with the leather influence rising in buttons, belts and jewellery.

Varieties in "baroque" details bring changes from scrolls, bars, chain links to roses, which look crusty when imposed on waistbelts. This notion brings a new charm to bracelets and necklaces for costume jewellery. Leather, on the other hand, rests flat on the silhouette, with leaves shaped to form and veined according to type through the medium of machine-stitching or reversed quilted impressions.

Black chiffon guimpes with bishop sleeves bring charm to black cloth frocks, that have pinare openings to jumper-fitted tops, while velvetene is tailored into five or six-inch depths at the base of skirts and inserted like epaulettes at shoulders above long tight-fitting sleeves.

Cities Go Ahead With Plans

Nearly £2,000,000 is to be spent by municipal corporations throughout the country on Coronation festivities. Many of the larger cities and towns of Great Britain have set aside funds, ranging as high as £25,000. This will include the provision of street decorations, presentations to school children and old people, fireworks displays, fun, fairs and other forms of entertainment. Prizes have been offered for the best decorated streets prepared by committees of traders and coordinating committees have been set up to see that the displays in adjoining thoroughfares harmonise. Westminster City Council will be asked by its Coronation Committee to authorise an expenditure of £25,000. Extra staff will be engaged. A great deal of the Coronation procession route lies in Westminster, and Mr. G. Grey Wormun, the architect, has already designed the decorations. EMPIRE TIMBER MASTS A different scheme is planned for each street through which the procession will pass, and the decorations will be so arranged that the public will have an uninterrupted view. More than 500 decorated masts, all of Empire timber will be erected. Ten different decorative designs have been evolved for these and for lamp standards. The masts will not be connected by bunting, as this might spoil the view from the upper storeys of buildings. Each street will have its own colour scheme, to which traders have agreed to conform. Westminster school children will receive silver-plated spoons as mementos. The children are to be entertained at the Albert Hall and in their schools.

ANTHONY ADVERSE

The long awaited Warner Bros. production of "Anthony Adverse," filmed from Harvey Allen's cyclopaedia novel, which boasts of 3,000,000 readers, comes to the King's Theatre to-day, with Fredric March in the stellar role and Olivia de Havilland playing opposite him in the feminine lead. The novel, which took Harvey Allen four years to write, was finally whipped into its finished screen form after more than two years of arduous labour on the part of nearly 3,000 technicians, in addition to more than 2,500 players who portray the many characters seen in the film. In dynamic action, intense drama, glamorous romance and thrilling adventure, probably no story was ever better fitted for screen material. And Warner Bros. are said to have caught all the vividness, the fire and colour of the original and to have transmitted it to the film. The cast is a tremendous one in size and remarkable for the number of talented players, there being eight speaking parts, with 2,550 bit players and extras appearing. Besides March and Miss de Havilland, some of the more important players include Edmund Gwenn, Claude Rains, Anita Louise, Louis Hayward, Gale Sondergaard, Steffi Duna, Bully Mauch, Donald Woods, Akim Tamiroff, Ralph Morgan, Henry O'Neill, Pedro de Cordoba, George E. Stone and Luis Alberni.

"THE BRIDE WALKS OUT"

Coming to the screen in a new kind of role into which she ably dovetails her extensive range of talents, Barbara Stanwyck is starred in "The Bride Walks Out," a say and breezy romantic comedy, in which she is seen with two of the screen's foremost leading men, Gene Raymond and Robert Young. Miss Stanwyck's bow in a comedy of the type of "The Bride Walks Out" is furthered by the appearance of Ned Sparks and Helen Broderick, who contribute pungent humor. This quintet is involved in a romantic entanglement which makes for some of the screen's gayest comedy, according to preview critics. A moment after Raymond and Miss Stanwyck are married, the bridegroom is arrested for violating the peace and the bride is pursued by a millionaire man-

"THE WHITE ANGEL"

What is heralded as one of the outstanding productions of the screen, "The White Angel," a First National picture portraying the life story of the immortal nurse, Florence Nightingale, opens at the Majestic Theatre to-day with Kay Francis in the stellar role.

The picture paints in fiery drama the fight of Florence Nightingale, a wealthy English society girl, to remedy conditions in army field hospitals and the neglect of dying soldiers. All the tragedy and pathos of the battlefield is pictured in the film, as well as the beauty of the life of sacrifices of Florence Nightingale and her specially picked nurses. The film is set in the middle of the last century during the Crimean war, and the most thrilling scenes take place at the base hospital at Scutari, a small Turkish town on the north shore of the Bosphorus, and at Balaklava, where the immortal six hundred of the Light Brigade rode "into the jaws of death."

No more powerful nor romantic theme could have been selected by First National than that of the life of the great nurse who gave her all to humanity by revolutionizing the hospitalization system of the world, and whose efforts laid the groundwork for the establishment of the Red Cross.

The picture is enacted by an exceptionally talented cast of principals, with more than one thousand persons in extra roles. Ian Hunter, famous on the London stage and in films, and Donald Woods have the two leading masculine roles.

Others in the cast include actors famous in America and abroad both on the stage and screen, among them being Nigel Bruce, Donald Crisp, Henry O'Neill, Billy Mauch, Charles Croker - King, Phoebe Foster, George Curzon, George Caine, Ara Gerald, Halliwell, Hobbes, Ely Malyon, Lillian Cooper and Egon Brecher.

William Dieterle directed the production from the screen play by Mordaunt Shairp.

about-town, Robert Young, who can provide the luxuries of life the lady cannot extract from her husband's thirty-five per week. Young's intervention comes to a head, with Barbara planning to get a divorce. Raymond undertakes a hazardous journey to the South Atlantic, of which Miss Broderick learns through her husband, Sparks, who is Raymond's business buddy. A mad and merry in-the-nick-of-time rescue from Young's swank Long Island estate to the steamer pier from which Raymond's boat is departing, satisfactorily ends this devil-may-care comedy. The star Theatre audiences that "The Bride Walks Out" will bring first offering to its patrons in the year 1937.

"WEDDING PRESENT"

Joan Bennett and Cary Grant are co-starring in Paramount's comedy-romance, "Wedding Present," which is showing to-day at the Alhambra Theatre.

A hard-boiled city editor, a visiting Archduke, a New York gangster and his thick-skulled stooge, a writer of inspirational novels, a German "Schmitzbank" band and a staff of wise-cracking newspaper people, keep the yarn moving at a fast rate. Heading the supporting cast are such screen favorites as George Bancroft, Conrad Nagel, Gene Lockhart, Inez Courtney, Edward Brophy and Damon Ford.

The "Wedding Present" which Grant plans for Miss Bennett when she leaves him to marry the boy-list provides the picture's climax and title. It is such a startling present and so well-timed that it results in a reconciliation of Grant with Miss Bennett at the final fade-out.

"MY MAN GODFREY"

Write down all the words that mean funny, capricious, deliciously raffish and ebulliently loony. Add them all together and you have a description of Universal's "My Man Godfrey," which opens on Sunday at the Queen's, Alhambra and Star Theatres simultaneously.

This outstanding contribution to the new movie season is humour gone on a spree, with the gear shift in high. William Powell and Carole Lombard, in starring roles together for the first time in three years, rise to new heights as experts of light comedy and the rapid fire retort.

Carole Lombard, as the reckless debutante, engages in a high society game called Scavenger Hunting. She comes back with the "forgotten man," in the person of William Powell. She falls for his overpowering masculine charm and employs him as the butler.

Gregory La Cava, one of Hollywood's aces, directed "My Man Godfrey," from the novel by Eric Hatch. This author, rated as a brilliant modern humorist, developed the screen play with Morris Ryskind, remembered for his writing achievements in the stage play, "Of Thee I Sing" and the picture, "Night at the Opera."

BRITISH VELVET FOR THE QUEEN

Unique Coronation Feature

At the forthcoming Coronation, Queen Elizabeth and two Royal Duchesses, the Duchess of Gloucester and the Duchess of Kent, will for the first time in history wear robes of purple velvet which have been woven in Britain from silk spun in Britain.

The velvet was woven at the Braintree mill of Warner and Sons. The silk used was spun by last summer's silk worms at Lady Dyke's silk farm at Lullingstone Castle, Kent, and was reeled by girls employed at Lullingstone.

It was then sent to Macclesfield to be thrown—that is, twisted to get a suitable thickness of thread—and at Braintree it has gone through the processes of "bolting off" in soap and water and dyeing by hand to the special royal shade of purple.

Now it is being woven by a young girl, Miss Lily Lee, on a hand-treadle loom, such as weavers used in mediaeval times.

It is calculated that she will make about three yards of velvet a week and that it will take about 14 weeks to complete the 41 yards needed for the robes.

Mr. R. A. Filgim, manager of the mill, stated that since this high quality of velvet is seldom in demand save for coronations, there are not many weavers sufficiently skilled for its manufacture.

"Between one coronation and another many of the skilled workers drop out or, having been away from this type of work, lose the necessary deftness of touch."

"SING, BABY, SING"

Movie audiences may not have known it, but that bright-eyed, dark-haired, round-faced, wise-cracking comedienne who keeps people laughing in so many pictures is a little Irish girl named Veronica Kelly.

Audiences knew she was Irish, all right, but they thought her name was Patsy Kelly. It isn't.

Patsy, who is featured with Alice Faye, Adolphe Menjou, Gregory Ratoff, Ted Healy, Michael Whalen and the Ritz Brothers in the Twentieth Century-Fox combination of "hilarity, song and love-making," "Sing, Baby, Sing," which is at the Queen's Theatre, explains that a police officer gave her the name of "Patsy."

Menjou's part in this picture is that of a tired and overworked celebrity who comes to New York to relax by going on one continual spree. In Alice Faye he finds the ideal target at which to hurl the lines of the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet"—and there the fun begins.

The Ritz Brothers didn't wait to be "initiated," however; they had formed a private little organization of their own and led the Hollywood gagsters a merry chase before a truce was declared.

The brothers are Al, Gum and Harry—they insist on being billed in that manner and in that order. They're superstitious about it. They look and speak so much alike no one would know the difference if the order was reversed.

The impeccable Adolphe Menjou was induced to sit down in a canvas chair sprinkled liberally with face powder. Gregory Ratoff's Irish setter, Seamus, who is a frequent companion of the actor on the set, was decorated with a brilliant and huge red ribbon. Alice Faye found lambchop in her cold cream jar.

"SHOW BOAT"

"Show Boat," popularly recalled as Edna Ferber's best seller novel and as the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein stage hit, has been brought to the screen by Universal and "booked" by the Oriental Theatre for to-day and to-morrow.

The romantic musical drama contains songs which have made the play a memorable success. The 1936 screen version has three new numbers written by the same authors.

Eight of the principal players portray roles which they formerly interpreted on the stage. Irene Dunne, starring as Magnolia, is the centre of a love story that reveals Allan Jones as the care-free layman, Charles Winninger as the genial Captain Andy, Helen Morgan as the same attractive Julie that she did on the stage.

Paul Robeson, splendid baritone, again plays Joe. A chorus of 200 and a total cast of 3,500 players indicate the grand scale of which James Whale directed "Show Boat."

COLONY'S TRAFFIC

Week's Three Fatalities

In the Colony of Hong Kong, including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, December 26, there were altogether 49 traffic accidents, as the result of which three persons were killed and 22 persons were injured.

Of the persons killed, a European lady, passenger of a private motor car, died as the result of injuries received when the vehicle came into a collision with a motor lorry. A Chinese male child, aged 8 years, whilst running across the road, was knocked down and fatally injured by a motor bus. A Chinese boy, aged 11 years, when he ran out from the pavement on to the roadway, was knocked down and fatally injured by a motor van.

Of the persons injured, 14 were pedestrians, who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles. Two bus passengers and three tramcar passengers were injured whilst alighting from moving motor buses and tramcars respectively. One cyclist was injured through falling from his vehicle whilst in motion. One bus passenger was injured when the vehicle started jerkily, causing him to fall backwards and collide with the window. One cyclist was injured as the result of a collision between two vehicles.

Of the 49 accidents, 21 were collisions between vehicles; 17 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 11 accidents were due to other causes.

Old Man Gaoled For Selling Obscene Pictures

SAID THEY WERE FOR CHILDREN TO PLAY

Wu Won, 60-year-old unemployed, was brought before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday for exposing obscene pictures for sale at Cross Street on December 30.

Acting Sub-Inspector Darkin stated that the defendant was holding the pictures over his shoulders towards the light and showing them to the people standing around. He added that the defendant only showed them for few moments and then sold them for a cent each. There were several young people around the defendant at that time.

Defendant: I only kept them for the little children to play. I wanted to return to the country but I had no money.

A sentence of six weeks hard labour was imposed with the alternative of a fine of $50.

European Summoned

UNMUZZLED DOG OUT ON ROAD

For allowing his black and white terrier in Prince Edward Road without a muzzle on December 13, W. Cole of 317, Prince Edward Road, was summoned at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Defendant was represented by his servant with a letter which stated that he bought the terrier from the dogs' home that morning, and he was away to buy a muzzle the same afternoon. A nominal fine of $5 was imposed by Mr. E. Hims-worth, the Magistrate.

HEAVY FINE

Pon Fung-chong of 1, Bonham Road, was fined $250 yesterday morning when he appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy.

Acting on information, Sergeant Cashman went early yesterday morning and found the defendant in possession of a revolver and 19 rounds of ammunition. The defendant is a merchant.

ADMIRALTY LOSES £11,000 AWARD

Warships' Aid To Ship On Fire

DECISION REVERSED ON APPEAL

The Court of Appeal decided recently, by a majority, that the Admiralty was not entitled to remuneration for salvage services rendered by warships, which went to the aid of another ship on fire and towed her 900 miles safely to port.

The court—consisting of Lords Justices Greer, Slesser, and Scott—allowed an appeal by the owners of the motor vessel Valverde. This was against the decision of Mr. Justice Branson in the King's Bench Division who upheld an arbitration award by Sir W. N. Raeburn, K.C., of £11,000, with costs, to the Admiralty for salvage services rendered to the Valverde by H.M. ships Frobbisher, Guardian, Sandboy, Creole and Orangeleaf in January, 1935.

The Valverde was on a voyage from Curacao to England with a cargo of petroleum when a fire broke out in her engine-room and SOS signals were sent out.

The Frobbisher, and later, the other ships, went to her assistance. The fire was extinguished, but the engines and steering-gear were put out of order and the Valverde had to be towed to Bermuda, a distance of about 900 miles.

It was contended for the owners of the Valverde by a provision in the Merchant Shipping Act, the Admiralty was not entitled to remuneration for salvage services rendered by the Frobbisher and Guardian, although a salvage agreement had been signed.

Lord Justice Slesser, giving judgment, with which Lord Justice Scott agreed, said it had been argued that the salvage agreement must be read as applying only to the service of the commander or crew of the warships. In his view this contention failed.

His lordship agreed that the court had no jurisdiction to entertain a claim for services which had been mentioned as excluded by the Merchant Shipping Acts. Mr. Justice Branson, he said, was in error in applying the principles of what was generally known as "contracting out" to this case.

LAW THAT CANNOT BE WAIVED

Lord Justice Slesser considered that the prohibition in the Merchant Shipping Act of the right to claim for services was general in its nature, and not enacted solely for the benefit of those persons who were to receive the services. It was legislation of the kind which could not be waived.

Lord Justice Greer, in a dissenting judgment, said the Admiralty had no legal obligation to perform salvage service, and could refuse to do so. But he thought it was entitled to make an agreement for salvage on terms similar to those which would operate in the case of a private salvor.

The claim in this case was not for salvage, but for money due under an agreement, and there was nothing in the Merchant Shipping Act which rendered such an agreement invalid.

TWO LARGE ESTATES

James Jardine Bell-Irving, formerly of Hong Kong, who died at Makerstoun Kelso, Roxburgh, Scotland, on June 6, 1936, left local estate sworn at $734,300. The executors appointed in the will are David Landale (who predeceased the deceased), Ethel Mary Countess of Lauderdale (daughter), and Dallas Gerald Mercer Bernard.

An application by the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, managing director of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd., the lawful attorney, for sealing certified copy of confirmation (nominate) of the executors has been granted by the Supreme Court.

Arthur Poonoo Samy, architect, who died in November at 88, Bonham Road, at the age of 61 years, left local estate sworn at $190,000. An application by Arthur Samy and Felix Samy, mercantile assistants, and Eunice Samy, schoolmistress, for grant of probate of the will, has been granted.

Lowers Himself Down By Rope

ROBS, RUNS, CAUGHT, INCARCERATED

Appearing before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on remand yesterday morning, Li Ming, 25, unemployed, charged with the larceny of various articles of clothing and an alarm clock, valued at $30, the property of Poon Sing-kui, broker, of 73 Leighton Hill Road, on December 26, was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour on each charge and a fine of $10.10 with the alternative of two weeks' imprisonment, making a total of twenty weeks. There was also another charge of similar larceny from Li Shek-yung, spinster, of 39 Leighton Hill Road, on the same day.

Sergeant Estall, prosecuting, stated that Hui Yu-kong, one of the witnesses, was walking past 39, Leighton Hill Road when he saw the first complainant chase after the defendant. He joined in the chase and defendant was apprehended after a long run. Most of the property was recovered from pawn shops later.

It was revealed that the defendant resided above the first complainant's address and had lowered himself into the lower flat by means of a rope to carrying out the thefts.

Catholic News And Notes

Now that the illness of the Pope has become grave a good deal of attention is focused on him from all over the world. There can be few living men whose life can so well bear scrutiny. Prior to his election to the Papacy at the age of sixty-five, he had a varied career as scholar, professor, librarian, diplomat, and administrator, and for fourteen years he has been the head of the Catholic Church—in all his tasks he has acquitted himself with devotedness and ability, and always with honour. The career of a scholar was that for which he seemed marked out at first—he taught Hebrew to Mr. Valterra, the Vicar Apostolic of Hong Kong—and his happiest years were spent in the famous Ambrosian Library of Milan of which he became Prefect. From this scholarly retirement he was drawn to carry on difficult tasks as the Pope's representative in foreign countries, and then he was appointed Archbishop of Milan, his own city, where he received such a welcome as has rarely been accorded to any ecclesiastic in modern times. His administration of the Catholic Church as Pope has been characterised by courage and vision, and he has won the respect of those to whom respect for the Papacy is not accounted a virtue. In the painful illness with which he was stricken he has received sympathy from all, and history will certainly regard him as one who had attributes of greatness.

THE TURN OF THE YEAR

As far as the ceremonies of the Catholic Church are concerned, the end of the Old Year counts more than the beginning of the New. New Year's Day is an important Church feast, the Circumcision of Our Lord, but the fact that the day is also New Year's Day is ignored in Catholic ritual. The end of the year, however, is generally celebrated by a service of thanksgiving, at which is sung the "Te Deum," a fourth century hymn, that is perhaps the noblest expression of praise of God that ever came from the pen of man. The solemn singing of this makes one of the most impressive ceremonies in the Church.

It is sometimes asked why the same expression of thanks is offered at the end of years of bad fortune as well as after years of prosperity. The reason is plain, because the belief of Catholics in a Creator and Lord who loves His creatures makes men accept confidently as blessings even those things which by human standards would be regarded as misfortune. It is natural, however, that thanksgiving should be more fervent in times of good fortune. This Year's "Te Deum" can be sung with more feelings of thankfulness than for many years in the past.

A DISTINGUISHED CONGRESS VISITOR

One of the best-known priests in England is expected to pass through Hong Kong within the next two months, on his way to Manila for the Eucharistic Congress. This is Rev. Cyril Martindale, S.J., a voluminous writer who succeeds in maintaining a remarkably high standard in his literary output. He is equally well known as a writer, preacher and radio-speaker. In the last-named capacity he is one of the most popular speakers in England. Like many other prominent Catholic writers, Fr. Martindale is a convert to the Catholic Church. The son of a distinguished Indian Civil Servant, he was educated at Harrow, where he became head boy, and Oxford, where he became a Fellow, after winning numerous honours in classics. His earliest writings dealt with Virgil and other classical authors, but later he turned to Catholic apologetics, and his name is now familiar to all readers of English Catholic periodicals. He is a member of the permanent International Eucharistic Congress Committee, and it is as English representative on this Committee that he is coming to Manila.

THE MOST POPULAR CATHOLIC WRITERS

In connection with Fr. Martindale, it is interesting to note that in an extensive vote for the most popular Catholic authors taken in the United States by the Jesuit Review "America," he occupied eighth place. The first vote went by a big majority to G. K. Chesterton, but he died before the count was complete. Next to him came his friend and associate Hilaire Belloc, who has probably received more praise and blame than any other author writing in the English language. (He can hardly be called English, for his native language, like his parentage, was French). Then came Jacques Maritain, rather a surprising choice, for most people would have thought him above the heads of the majority of people who generally take part in votes of this kind. Probably Maritain's sparkle made up for a lot of his abstruseness. Next followed Alfred Noyes, Henri Gheon, Paul Claudel, Sigrid Undset and Christopher Dawson. It was only after the name of Fr. Martindale that a novelist appeared on the list—Shella Kays-Smith, who has a very loyal following among admirers of the best in English fiction.

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE VISITING HONG KONG

Towards the end of next week the Apostolic Delegate to China, H.E. Archbishop Mario Zanin, will visit Hong Kong. This is Archbishop Zanin's second visit to Hong Kong, for he spent some weeks here in 1934, on his first arrival in China. On the present occasion he will remain about a week as the guest of the Bishop, Mr. Valterra, before going to Macao and Canton. At the end of January he will go to Manila for the Eucharistic Congress. Mr. Valterra and the Bishops of Macao and Canton are also going to Manila for the Congress.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist, Hong Kong

The subject of the lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 3, will be: "God."
The Golden Text will be: "God is the Lord, which hath showed us light." (Psalms 118:27)
Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men: forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart. And such trust have we through Christ to Godward: not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think anything as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life. Now the Lord is that Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." (II Cor 3:2-6, 17, Rom. 8:38, 39)
The lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When evidence before the material senses yielded to spiritual sense, the apostle declared that nothing could alienate him from God, from the sweet sense and presence of Life and Truth. It is ignorance and false belief, based on a material sense of things, which hide spiritual beauty and goodness. Understanding this, Paul said: 'Neither death, nor life, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God.' This is the doctrine of Christian Science: that divine Love cannot be deprived of its manifestation, or object; that joy cannot be turned into sorrow, for sorrow is not the master of joy; that good can never produce evil; that matter can never produce mind nor result in death. The perfect man—governed by God, his perfect principle—is sinless and eternal. We must learn that Life is God. Ask yourself: Am I living the life that approaches the supreme good? Am I demonstrating the healing power of Truth and Love? If so, then the way will grow brighter 'unto the perfect day.' Your fruits will prove what the understanding of God brings to man." (Page 303, 496).

IMAGINATIVE EVIDENCE, SAYS COUNSEL

Defendant Discharged

Chu Lung, 22, a knitter of 69 Wanchai Road, third floor, was brought before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon for the possession of dangerous drugs known as heroin on December 19.

Mr. F. H. Loseby appeared for the defendant while Sergeant Pockson prosecuted. Sergeant Pockson stated that on December 19 at 12.15 a.m. constable C297 was on duty at Wanchai district. It was alleged that he saw the defendant approaching from the stair-case of 69, Wanchai Road. When the defendant was about two yards in front of the constable, he dodged and ran past him. The constable gave chase and arrested the defendant around a corner of an unknown lane.

While the policeman was chasing the defendant, he noticed a parcel being thrown to the side of the road. The parcel was later picked up and in it were 500 heroin pills. The defendant was brought to the police station and charged with the possession of dangerous drugs.

C297's evidence was not clear so the defendant was discharged. Mr. Loseby told his Worship that the constable's evidence was too much imagination for in the first place the man was not sure of Wanchai district and, in the second place, he could not have seen the defendant take out a parcel and throw it for his back was facing the defendant.

The heroin was confiscated and the defendant was accordingly discharged.

DESTROYER LAUNCHED

The first British destroyer, to be launched in the reign of King George VI—H.M.S. Intrepid—look the water at Cowes recently.
The ceremony was performed by Lady Fisher, wife of Admiral Sir William W. Fisher, Commander-in-Chief, Portsmouth.
The new warship belongs to the "T" class, and was ordered late in 1935. She has a displacement of about 1350 tons, and her main armaments consist of four 4.7-inch guns, 10 torpedo tubes and six smaller guns.

The Five Cruisers

Sir Samuel Hoare announced recently that five small cruisers (of about 4,000 tons each) which should be "scrapped" under the 1930 Naval Treaty would be retained with the navy; the reason for this decision was that "deterioration of the general international situation," which indeed is all too clear, to the naked eye and which had been already indicated on the naval side some months ago when we similarly decided to retain nearly thirty over-age destroyers which also were due to be "scrapped."

The decision regarding the cruisers has to be communicated to our partners in the treaty, the United States and Japan, and it is the smallest part of the consequences that they will probably take similar action; the size of the United States fleet is a matter of indifference to us, and Japan in any event has an overwhelming superiority of strength in the Far East.

Nor does the addition of the five cruisers bring our total cruiser strength much over the minimum aimed at by us in the Naval Treaty.

At Geneva in 1927 the Admiralty had demanded seventy cruisers; in 1930—much quieter times!—the Government accepted fifty. If these five were now "scrapped" we should be down to forty-eight; with them we shall have fifty-three. But the retention first of the destroyer tonnage and now of 20,000 tons in cruisers vividly underlines the gravity of the position which has been reached—through the breach with Italy, the fear of a sudden "move" somewhere by Germany, the danger of a conflagration arising out of the Spanish struggle, the collapse of the League as a preventive of war. We must expect, of course, that any increase in our preparations, however defensive we declare them to be, will result in similar measures elsewhere in Europe; everyone is aiming now at "security" by the same military means.

What we have to ask of our Government is a simultaneous policy vigorously directed to the maintenance of peace where it is most threatened. The Government should do its utmost to make non-intervention in Spain a reality, which would be the quickest way to taking the threat of a wider war out of the Spanish situation.

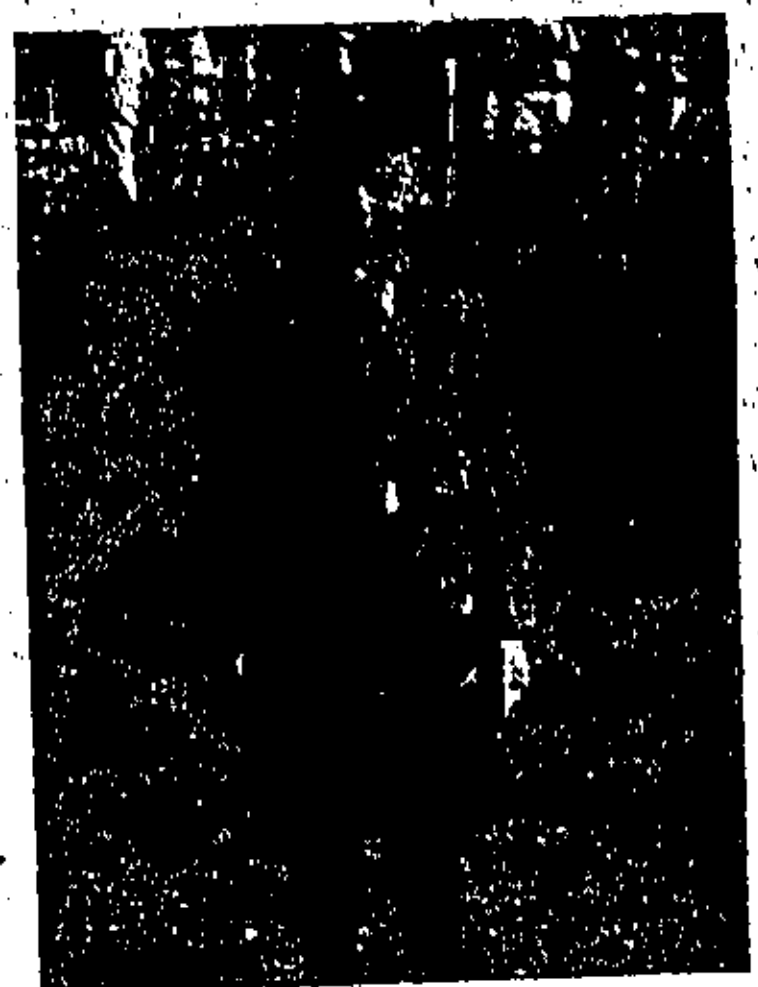

RCA COMPANY'S PARTY

One of the most enjoyable events of the Xmas season was held in the new offices of the RCA Victor Company of China Saturday evening, December 28. Located on the top floor of the China Building, these offices presented a very smart appearance with its interior finish of natural teak woodwork, parquet floor and light cream walls.

Cocktails and a "buffet" dinner were served and a private showing of "Tough Guy" starring Jackie Cooper topped off the evening's programme.

Those attending were:—Mr. and Mrs. R. Rathmell, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Kee, Jr., Harold W. Grambs, Y. T. Char, S. Y. Wong, P. H. Ho, S. Y. Chan, R. K. Koo, C. W. Tse, M. M. Maher, H. Chan, Choi Ni Chong, R. R. June, Fong

WELCOME DINNER AND DANCE

Hotel Cecil Function

Never before has the Hotel Cecil seen such a grand and well-organised function in which over 250 couples of guests, officers and members of the Junior N.C.O.'s Royal Welch Fusiliers were present to do full justice to an excellent dinner and to dance with the greatest pleasure and delight, when they held a welcome dinner and dance to Lt. Col. D. Barchard.

In decorating the Hotel, the colours of streamers and lights artistically fixed at a large special design at the entrance shone forth as bright as the sunbeams and made the participants proud of their Regiment.

After dinner, dancing started at 8 p.m., with numerous gay dresses and the smart uniforms swarming the hall, and with the latest hits in dance rhythm furnished by the band of their own Regiment.

The entertainment and the joyful scene held all spell-bound until the morning when the music ended at 3 o'clock; though making them feel tiresome but unforgettable of the sense of good fellowship cemented by the happiness of the celebration.

ROBBERY PLANNED IN NOVEMBER

Man Gaoled

On December 18, Lo Chok, 31, unemployed, invited Cheung Sing, Hui Sam-ping, Chan Ming and Ip Jui to rob his friends Ip Lee and Chan Heung of Tung Choi Street 2nd floor. First accused met the other three in an opium den at the beginning of November and planned things out together. He told them that these people were very easy "pickings."

When the robbery was eventually committed, he had another three men, Pun Mau, Pun Oi and Chan Ho Mui to help them to conceal the stolen property.

When they appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy the first defendant said that he did not take part in the robbery, but he was given a quantity of opium for his share. His Worship said that if it had not been for him the robbery would not have been committed.

He was sentenced to serve four months' imprisonment; the other three accused were remanded to Monday.

Those who were charged with receiving stolen property were remanded for one week.

DIVERTING ASPECTS

Ancient Ooze, Rickshas And Beggars
BY PHILIP NESBITT

The ground is covered with muddy ice. Looking down past the two teetering walls which form any one of the nine-thousand-and-nine-hundred-and-something hutings (the Chinese name for a small street) of Peiping, you see the ancient ooze which is the soil of China, deep rutted by the enormous wheels of clanging, creaking pushcarts passing and repassing each other within the narrow space. In the cold morning air, pungent draughts of unacceptable odours make the nostrils cringe. The spiralling smoke from cauldrons of thick brown grease rises above the tiled-ridge of the little dwellings and shops. Calves' liver, fresh from the slaughter tables, hangs high with the spindly columns of pigs. They swing within the shadow of dark, sooty eaves. Like the sounds of an infuriated mule, the cart of the water carrier drips by; or better yet, the sound of the wall of a cat getting its tail stepped upon startles the eardrums with the passing of the scarcely sanitary and perambulating reservoir.

Suddenly a ricksha will tilt past, wobbling under its weight of a silk-clad fat dowager with nose in air. Frequently an official car looms up like a bear at the mouth of a tunnel, crowding the pushcarts, rickshas and wayfarers flat against the gray plaster walls. Then, grim and stocky looking Japanese soldiers in yellow uniforms thump by with their blunt boots churning the mud. Beggars, tattered beyond all recognition as human beings, appear in doorways with outstretched hand and mumbled supplications repeatedly in a stream of incomprehensible words. They strike to the roots of compassion, and yet to answer them with coin is like emptying the ocean with a thimble.

Once I passed two beggars. An ever motley crowd of Chinese had gathered about, uttering exclamations of sympathetic woe at their plight, and since the curiosity of the foreigners is no less than that of the native, I elbowed my way to the inner-edge of the crowd. The sight was shocking; there they were with clothing, like 40-year-old quilts, wound round their shivering bodies. One of them, older, apparently lay dying of extreme cold and lack of nourishment, while the other wailed lamentations in a manner that would bring tears to the eye of the most hardened communist. There was even a musical note in his melancholy sing-song like a single rag hanging from a desert telegraph wire. His efforts were bent in chafing the hands of

CELEBRATION ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

Lantern Parade To Be Held

To congratulate the safe return of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek from Sianfu to Nanking, the Provincial and Municipal Tangpus have sponsored to hold a meeting and a lantern parade on New Year's Day which is also the anniversary of the establishment of the Chinese Republic.

The meeting will be held at the Sun Yat-sen Memorial Hall at 9 p.m. and the parade will start from the East Parade Ground at 7 p.m. of the same day, passing through East Wai Oi Road, Wing Hon Road, East Bund, Tai Ping Road, Pao Chai Kiu, Chang Lin Kai, Shup Fat Pao, Bah Kau Pao, Shang Kau Pao, Shang Kau Pao and then terminate at Sai Kwan Yuen.

To facilitate people coming from different districts and other places to witness the celebration, the local authorities have notified the Canton-Kowloon Railway, Canton-Hankow Railway and steamship companies in the province to charge half fares for passengers during the period from December 31, 1936, to January 3, 1937.

Expenses for the celebration is estimated at $2,000 which fund will be borne by the Provincial and Municipal Tangpus, Provincial Governments, the Headquarters of the 4th Route Army, and the Provisional Headquarters of the Military Affairs Commission.

However, it is also learned, the entertainment for foreign consuls, which is regularly given by local authorities on New Year's Day, will be cancelled, due to national emergency.

CANTON-HANKOW RAILWAY

Measures To Prevent Accidents

Track On Hunan-Kwangtung Border To Be Built

Fundamental measures are being taken by the Canton-Hankow Railway Administration to prevent further train accidents.

The railway track at Shih-Chih-Kung-Li on the Kwangtung-Hunan border, measuring a distance of 300 kilometers, will be rebuilt to ensure traffic safety. This section which was originally at a low-lying level, was raised with mud and ballast. During recent months, rain and freshets have undermined part of the track.

To avert danger the railway authorities decided to lay a new track, taking a round-about way at the foot of a hill. Construction work on this new track, measuring about 400 kilometers, will be started shortly and is expected to be completed before the end of next March.

In view of the frequency of train accidents along the Pinchow-Lochang section the schedule has been so rearranged that, hereafter, most trains will be run in this section in the daytime. Night train services here will be minimized.

To look after train services in this section an additional traffic bureau will be inaugurated. At present the railway has three traffic bureaux under the traffic department in charge of the Canton-Shaokwan, Chuchow-Lochang and Hunan-Kiangsi sections respectively.

K.C.C. ANNUAL DANCE

An enjoyable and exciting time was had by members and friends of the Kowloon Cricket Club on the occasion of the annual dance held in the Club yesterday evening, music being excellently provided by the Medway Melodians.

In common with all other functions in the Colony last night, at the stroke of midnight everyone joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne," thus bringing in the New Year in conventional style.

The members of the Club who contributed to the success of the dance last night were as follows:—(Entertainment Committee) Messrs. W. L. Mackenzie, T. W. Carr, A. A. Dand and A. Spary.

Among the private parties who attended were those belonging to Messrs. F. Goodwin, J. Fraser, W. Nash, H. Kew, W. W. Hirst, W. J. Geall, T. W. Carr, S. A. Gray, H. Nish, E. C. Fincher, J. Gardner and E. C. Watson.

Hall decorations were suitably provided by Messrs. W. C. Jack and Company.

the stricken man. To my unmeddled eye there appeared to be no hope. It seemed that no power on earth could save this wretched mortal. His ribs looked like knives laid beneath a sheet.

Sympathetic as the crowd appeared to be, there was nevertheless that curious impersonality which possesses any such group in the face of hopeless suffering. All I could do to alleviate the magnitude of this pitiful scene was to drop what money I had into the hands of the wailing companion and leave with hope that a decent funeral would be provided. I to my warm room and my closets filled with clothing. Surely this is China at its worst.

The next week when I was out walking, as one must do if one is to know Peiping, I saw at the conjunction of two hutings a close-knit group of blue clad natives scrutinizing some source of interest which lay in their midst. I elbowed my way again to the centre of the crowd. To my astonishment I saw my two friends of last week. The wretch was still dying. With a little luck, he will go on dying for many weeks to come. Then, I had to admire the incredible ingenuity and intense understanding of humanity which held these men to their work, for after all I was seeing an act better than any on the vaudeville stages of the world of America.

NON-INTERVENTION PROPOSALS

ITALIANS EXPECTED TO MAKE RESERVATIONS

Press Criticises Soviet Russian Reply

Rome, December 30. The Italian reply to the Franco-British note regarding non-intervention in Spain will, according to informed quarters here, state acceptance in principle of the French Government's proposals, but will make certain reservations necessitated by the actual state of affairs now prevailing in Spain. Generally speaking, it is said, the Italian reply will follow the same lines as Germany's answer.

The reports published by various papers abroad, according to which the Italian Government advised the German Government to abandon the moral support of General Franco's Government, are emphatically denied here.

The Soviet Russian reply to the Franco-British note is characterized by the press here as a "manoeuvre whose insincerity and ambiguity is obvious." "It certainly does not require long explanations to prove that the Soviet Russian intervention in Spain has assumed an extraordinary extent," states the editor of the paper "Tribuna" in a leading article.

"One must wonder why Soviet Russia would believe that she can evade the issue by such a reply which any self-respecting state must reject for reasons of prestige. It may be impossible to ascertain whether the Soviet Russian troops fighting on the Madrid front under the command of Soviet Russian generals are really volunteers, but the fact of their presence in Spain is undisputed, and to mention the arms and ammunition deliveries for which Chicherin is periodically expressing thanks to Moscow."

ITALIAN REQUIREMENTS

Rome, Dec. 30. It is understood that the Italian reply to the Anglo-French notes on non-intervention will be favourable in principle, but that Italy will require complete assurances that non-interference in Spain will be maintained by countries sympathetic to the Madrid Government, notably France and Russia.

A reply will be sent in the next few days.

VIET ALLEGATIONS

Moscow, Dec. 30. Claims to the possession of information showing that German and Italian forces are not volunteers, but have been advanced by the Soviet Government, which simultaneously expressed its readiness to agree conditionally to the Anglo-French proposals to ban the despatch of volunteers to Spain.

M. Mah Liviouff, Commissar for Foreign Affairs, replying to the recent Anglo-French notes aiming at prevention of intervention in the civil war in Spain, states that recently the forces were replenished with large numbers of German and Italian citizens, arriving in massed bands specially chartered vessels.

The matter of recruitment of these men and their armaments and the dispatch of the steamers which carried them, in no way permits it to be said that this was a case of volunteer movements, the Russian spokesman claims.

INSURGENTS STOP DAIK SHIP

SINGAPORE BASE TO BE TESTED

Large Scale Manoeuvres Arranged

London, Dec. 30. The largest sea, land and air manoeuvres ever to be held in peace time will take place next year at Singapore, according to reports published in Wednesday's papers.

The object will be to determine whether Singapore, which is England's most important naval base in the Far East, is able to repel a concerted sea attack of major proportions. The entire British sea, air and land forces in the Far East will participate, the China fleet numbering 25 ships under the Command of Sir Charles Little being "attackers."

The air forces of Singapore will be reinforced by squadrons from India as well as Iraq. The conviction is expressed in military circles here that the defence facilities will be adequate to repulse the "attackers."

POPE'S HEALTH IMPROVED

Not Yet Out of Danger

Vatican City, Dec. 30. The blood clot in the left leg of His Holiness the Pope has dispersed, according to an authoritative statement issued this afternoon, and the patient's pain has considerably decreased in consequence.

There is now talk of installing a special arm chair which will give the Pope relief from the constant strain of confinement. It is estimated that if his recovery continues at the present rate, His Holiness may be able to get up in about two months.

His Holiness had a short sleep this afternoon. However, he is not yet out of danger. There is always the possibility of more clots forming and the renewal of his prostrate trouble, which necessitated an operation some years ago. His heart, which is weak, is also a danger point.

New York, Dec. 30.

The well-known Dollar Line, one of the most important of the United States mercantile fleets, is at a complete standstill—unable to earn a penny with its millions of dollars worth of ships.

When the President Harrison returned to-day from a world cruise she was ordered to tie up owing to the shipping strike, thus completing the company's paralysis. The Dollar Line comprises fourteen big vessels.

Officials of the company said to-day this would be the first time in thirteen years that none of its vessels was in service either to the Far East or on a round-the-world cruise.

REUTER

WOMAN COMPLETES SOLO FLIGHT

Natal, Brazil, Dec. 30.

Miss Maryse Bastie, the French aviatrix, arrived here at 4.40 p.m. to-day, having left Dakar, in Senegal, at 7.25 a.m., on a solo flight across the South Atlantic.

She has thus beaten the record of Miss Jean Batten, pretty, young New Zealand airwoman, who flew that stretch of ocean in 15 hours 15 minutes, and got lost at the South American end of her voyage. Miss Bastie improved the New Zealand girl's time by 70 minutes.

Her machine carried sufficient fuel for a 2,500 mile cruise and is capable of a speed of 168 miles per hour.

NEW EMPIRE AIR MAIL SERVICE

First Plane Leaves

The New Empire air mail service was inaugurated from the temporary base at Hythe, Hants, recently, when the Centaurus, one of new long-range flying-boats, took off for Alexandria. She carried a crew of four—Capt. L. A. Egglefield and Capt. E. B. Alcock, joint commanders, and a first officer and wireless operator—and a ton and a half of Christmas mails for different parts of the Empire, including South Africa, India and Australia. The Centaurus is expected to reach Alexandria in five days. Early in the New Year passengers as well as mail will be carried on the new service. The Centaurus will remain for a time in the Mediterranean, where she will augment the regular passenger and mails service between Brindisi and Alexandria. The new flying-boat Caledonia, commanded by Capt. W. N. Cummings and Capt. C. J. Powell, is expected to leave Hythe on an experimental flight to India and back. She will also carry Christmas mails and is expected to reach India in four days. Her trip is intended as the first of a series of long-distance flights leading up to the establishment of a transatlantic service.

Secret Ray That Paralyzes Engines

TO BE TESTED BY AIR MINISTRY

Secret demonstration of a ray that paralyzes petrol and oil engines for several hours is to be given to members of the Scientific and Research Department of the Air Ministry.

The inventor is a thirty-six-year-old London man.

His apparatus resembles a powerful search-light on a swivel tripod. Main components include infra-red rays and a secret ray the inventor has discovered after five years of experimental work.

Recently a test was made with the ray on a 10 h.p. motor-car. The engine was left running while the car was stationary.

MIGHT MEAN DEATH

The beam was trained on the bonnet of the car and immediately the engine stopped. It remained out of action for more than two hours.

Although the motor-car engine was paralysed, it was undamaged. Several hours later it could be driven away.

So far the ray has not been tried out on a driven motor-car. It might kill the driver.

The inventor hopes to be able to build a set that will throw a ray 15,000 to 20,000 feet to disable aeroplanes. To do this more than half a million volts will be necessary.

Cricket

The following will represent the H.K.C.C. in a two days' match versus the Royal Navy on the H.K.C.C. ground, commencing on Friday at 11 a.m.

A. W. Hayward (Captain), H. W. Balnes, R. L. Holden, H. Owen Houghes, G. D. McEwan, H. B. Neve, T. A. Pearce, T. E. Pearce, A. E. Perry, L. T. Ride and G. A. Stewart.

The following will represent the H. K. C. C. 2nd XI in a League match versus the University 2nd XI at Pokfulam on Saturday, at 2 p.m.

A. K. Mackenzie—Capt., J. F. Barron, V. C. Bond, F. A. Dunnett, N. P. Fox, C. E. Gahagan, R. M. M. King, J. F. Leys, J. E. Potter, W. Stoker and W. Wooding.

WEDDINGS

The forthcoming weddings are announced between Leung Kai Heung, vernacular master, 62, Electric Road, and Yeung So Ying, vernacular mistress, and Raymond Lin Chik Kuang, University trained master, 21, Village Road, and Jennie Chan, 169, Lai Chi Kok Road.

MEN WHO KNOW TOO MUCH

Why Nazis Expel Journalists

VARIOUS MEANS OF PRESSURE

The Nazi regime has devoted more energy and care to "selling itself" to the outer world than any other. In a highly organized and disciplined country, whose population is both clearly and in ordinary circumstances kindly, it is easy to present a persuasively agreeable facade to the casual tourist.

The principal danger to the Nazi Propaganda Ministry is, therefore, the foreign correspondent who knows his job and knows Germany, so that he cannot be easily bamboozled. Soon after Herr Hitler came to power the Nazi authorities began to thin the ranks of foreign journalists in Berlin, either by expulsion or by carefully applied pressure.

Newcomers who took their places were naturally at a disadvantage until they had gained experience, which took some time. Each expulsion was therefore a gain to the Nazi regime. Altogether by this summer 15 members of the Foreign Press Association of Berlin had been expelled, while as many others had been manoeuvred out of the country.

As an example of the latter method the case of an American journalist may be quoted, who, in the early days of the Nazi regime was told that the authorities would not "deign" to expel him, but that they would break off all official relations with him. Meanwhile the German-Jewish assistant was arrested.

The American left to secure his assistant's release. His only fault had been to have run to earth some anti-Semitic bestialities for which he could only produce evidence at the risk of other Jewish lives.

LISTENING IN

All correspondents soon became accustomed to the awareness that when telephoning to London they were being listened-in to by the Gestapo. Technique rapidly progressed, and human listeners were soon replaced by dictaphones attached to the telephones.

All foreign correspondents were well aware that in telephoning inside Germany itself from their own telephones they had to take the greatest care not to cast any suspicion upon German acquaintances as possible sources of information which was disagreeable to the authorities.

In the first months of the Nazi regime the German authorities were cautious in handling British journalists, but before half a year was up an English journalist was arrested in Munich and expelled, his fault having been, apparently, that he referred to secret instructions to the German Press in one of his messages.

The present writer well recollects how General Goering collected the foreign Press representatives shortly after the Reichstag fire trial and assured them that all their telephone conversations as well as their telegrams and letters were available to him, and that if the foreign correspondents failed to appreciate the great and glorious historical moments which they were privileged to be experiencing, the Nazi authorities would have to consider what steps were to be taken.

Expulsions or "pressure" against correspondents from smaller and weaker States such as are most of Germany's neighbours were frequent.

RED SEA CROSSING "NO MIRACLE"

Major C. S. Jarvis, Governor of Sinai for 14 years and known to every Arab in the Middle-East as Jarvis Bey, recently explained his theory of the Bible story of the flight of the Israelites from Egypt. He was addressing the Ethnic Study Group in London.

The way in which the "sea" was dry when the Israelites crossed and flooded when the Egyptians attempted the crossing was no miracle, he declared.

"The pillar of fire described in Exodus would probably be caused by one of the squalls which still occur in Sinai and cause a column of cloud from which lightning flashes at night. A narrow strip of sand separates the Mediterranean from Lake Bardawil, a vast lagoon, and my theory is that the Israelites marched along this strip."

"A squall and rain followed and, as still happens to-day, the sea broke over the sand into the lagoon. I have seen it happen in 12 hours. The whole army of Egyptians was caught."

"I have arrived at my theory by studying the two books of the Bible."

NEWS FROM THE WATERFRONT

Freight And Asiatic Passengers Returns

(BY LONGSHOREMAN).

During the 24 hours ended at 9.00 a.m. yesterday, the freight returns, received from the Harbour Office, showed a fairly high tonnage movement, a large proportion of which being contributed by Japanese ships.

The total tonnage of general cargo carried by vessels to the Colony was 23,897 tons, with British steamers carrying 3,045 tons.

Through cargo for ports beyond the Colony amounted to 15,211 tons, of which 5,273 tons were carried by British steamers.

Asiatic deck passengers entering into the Colony during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday were 902, of which 510 were from British steamers.

There were altogether twelve arrivals, of which seven were of British registry, the remainder being of other nationalities, while of the 17 departures, ten were British ships, the rest being of other different countries. Particulars as follows:—

Nationality	Ships	Tonnage
British	7	8,318
Norwegian	1	830
Japanese	3	34,195
Chinese	1	565
Total	12	43,908

Hong Kong In 1936

In the nature of a courtesy call on His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott. "Plans for a regular commercial service are being pushed very rapidly at present but we are not in a position to announce a date as yet," he said. On Nov. 5 the weekly C.N.A.C. service between Shanghai, Hong Kong and Canton was inaugurated.

TYPHOON

A disastrous typhoon struck Hong Kong shortly after midnight on August 17. The B. and S. s.s. Sunning was washed on the rocks in Junk Bay and became a total loss. Heroic rescue work was carried out by the officers and crew of No. 1 Police launch. The s.s. Hydrangea was washed on to Stonecutters Island. A house collapsed at 35, Jardine's Bazaar while a matchless housing many coolies collapsed at Stanley. Much damage was caused both on land and in the harbour.

BUDGET

The Budget for 1937 was introduced in September. It disclosed that Government proposed to increase the taxation on motorists.

NEW SCHOOL

The new Central British School building was officially opened on September 14 thus meeting a long felt need.

RECORD RAILWAY RUN

On her first trial run from Kowloon to Canton on October 13, the "Taipo Belle", latest motor coach addition of the Kowloon-Canton Railway, completed the journey in two hours and fifteen minutes, thus creating a new record in running time for all railways in China.

CANTON VISITORS

In the early part of November, H. E. the Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government and H. H. the mayor of Canton visited Hong Kong thus reciprocating the visit paid to Canton by H. E. the Governor and Lady Caldecott earlier on. Exchanges were most cordial.

DYSENTERY

An appalling dysentery epidemic occurred in the early part of November claiming the lives of eight European boys, two of whom were the sons of Naval officers. H. E. the Governor made a statement on the scourge at the Legislative Council session on Nov. 24 when a detailed report by the Director of Medical Services was tabled.

CENOTAPH HISTORY

History was made at the Cenotaph observance on Armistice Day by the presence of four Admirals. They were Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Little, C-in-C China Station; Admiral J. P. Esteva, C-in-C of the French Naval Forces in the Far East; Admiral H. E. Yarnell, C-in-C of the U. S. Asiatic Fleet; and Rear-Admiral C. G. Sedgwick.

VISITORS

Among distinguished visitors to the Colony during 1936 were Viscount Rothermere, noted British newspaper magnate; Josef von Sternberg, prominent Hollywood director and producer; Miss Anna May Wong, famous Chinese movie and screen actress; W. T. Tilden and H. Ellsworth Vines, famous U.S. professional tennis players. Tilden and Vines gave exhibition matches here and drew capacity crowds. Henri Cochet, famous French professional tennis player, Prof. Ilor Evans and Major E. Temperley also visited the Colony.

MURDERS

Several murders occupied the attention of C.I.D. officers at Headquarters during 1936. Among these was a double murder in a hut at Telegraph Bay on June 14 when a father and his son were discovered strangled. In July a sensational stabbing affair occurred in a flat in Kennedy Road when a well-to-do local Chinese died from stab wounds and a woman was removed to hospital suffering from stab wounds in the back. The inquest aroused tremendous interest.

SUICIDES

The legal profession suffered a terrible loss by the death on March

Coronation Coiffure

This coiffure as designed by Gallia is an anticipation of the official design, to be issued later, for peeresses at the Coronation in May next year.

Hong Kong Welcomes New Year

Watch-night services were held in all Churches.

AT THE HOTELS

The Hotels, as during the Christmas festivities, were again packed to capacity with merry-makers. At the Hong Kong Hotel another brilliant programme of entertainment was offered featuring Bob Burnett and Bula Hoff, Vera Love and her Festive Jollies, Bob and Bertie Hellman, Art Carleton's boys and Norman Brooks and his band.

There was another bumper programme offered at the Gloucester Hotel with the Dixie Sisters and the Duo Artinellis taking the leading roles in the entertainment that was greatly enjoyed by patrons.

At the Kowloon Cricket Club, the annual fancy dress carnival dance was an unqualified success while the Warrant Officers and Senior N.C.O.s Mess, R.E.'s New Year dance at the Garrison Lecture Hall was another scene of merriment.

The annual reunion dinner of the Accountancy School attracted a large crowd and a happy time was spent.

There was a large attendance at the Craigengower Cricket Club where the annual President's Ball was held. The hosts were Mr. B.W. Bradbury and Mrs. Bradbury.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME

The feature of to-day's programme will be the annual Children's Sports at the Kowloon Cricket Club when H.E. the Governor and Lady Caldecott will attend.

The Police Recreation Club's annual Christmas Tree and Children's sports will be held this afternoon. The Kowloon Dock Recreation Club are holding their New Year Dance to-night in the Reading Room commencing at 9 p.m.

Football fans will be well catered for at a charity soccer match to be played at Caroline Hill this afternoon between the Chinese and the Rest of the Colony.

The cinemas are offering attractive programmes. They are as follows:—"Anthony Adverse" (Fredric March) at the King's; "Sing, Baby, Sing" (Adolphe Menjou, Alice Faye) at the Queen's; "The Wedding Present" (Cary Grant, Joan Bennett) at the Alhambra; "The White Angel" (Kay Francis, Ian Hunter) at the Majestic; "The Bride Walks Out" (Gene Raymond, Barbara Stanwyck) at the Star; and "Show Boat" (Irene Dunne, Paul Robeson and Allan Jones) at the Oriental.

4 of Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., eminent criminal lawyer, who was found dead with a bullet wound in the head at his residence, 490, The Peak.

On October 23, the body of an American woman, identified as Mrs. E. M. Carnrick, was found lying in Middle Beach, Repulse Bay. A verdict of suicide was returned at the inquest.

FIRE

Six timberyards were destroyed by fire in the Mongkok district on December 28. There were no casualties.

Hong Kong Race Club, signalled the arrival of the Commander-in-Chief in a motor-car, who was accompanied by his Flag-Lieut., Lt. M. B. P. Francklyn. The line of men, which extended some five hundred yards from point to point, then presented arms while the Massed Bands, under the direction of Warrant Officer R. E. Compton, played "Rule Britannia."

The C-in-C then carried out his inspection, accompanied by other Naval officers, while Press photographers took the opportunity of the moment to take pictures of the spectators. The C-in-C returned to the saluting point at the conclusion of his inspection, when the line of men formed itself into companies and marched past His Excellency.

The order of march was reversed and the line, swung back past the saluting base after which the companies moved off independently and formed a hollow square at the end of the ground where the Commander-in-Chief delivered his message to the officers and men.

In his message the Commander-in-Chief said that it was the usual custom for the C-in-C after his inspection of the officers and men to give them his opinion of the parade.

"I am very pleased with the general turnout and showing," he continued, and added that it was quite right for him to thank them all as it meant relieving him of the responsibility of reporting efficient results. "Without a doubt, you compare favourably with other landing parties elsewhere."

DASTARDLY OUTRAGE

A suggestion that Mr. Knox was mistaken for a Japanese is now being generally discredited.

Many of the old boys of the Diocesan Boys' School will remember with regret the unfortunate victim of this dastardly crime.

Mr. John F. Knox was the youngest of three brothers, of whom the others were George and Harold. The brothers left the Colony in 1919 and attended the St. Francis Xavier's School in Shanghai and a few years after leaving school both John and Harold joined the staff of the Shanghai Gas Company at the Langtszepoo Works.

Mr. Knox married a few years ago and is the father of a little boy who is now about five years old.

GRETA GARBO HONOURED
